Bed and breakfast the ElmRock Inn is saturated with romantic history. The Dutch Colonial farmhouse was built in 1770. In fact, the Stone Ridge venue is only an hour away from where Alexander Hamilton exchanged vows with Elizabeth Schuyler. Even the trees are historic in a 250-year-old locust grove that has seen uncountable love stories. “It has that historic charm,” says Kimberly Weeks, co-owner and director of catering and events. “Intimate events at the inn are very special.” Although a tent can hold up to 200 people outside, the great room makes an impression indoors with soaring ceilings and a long table set with farm-to-table fare made onsite by chef/owner Mark Suszczyński. A bluestone patio can be used for extra dancing or a cocktail party. Finish the night outdoors with a fire pit, cornhole, and a converted camper van bar to occupy partygoers.
